

The Clutha Bar

' I have been working in the property development business for over twenty years and have used a number of different architects. In the past 5 years I have worked closely with CMM architects and have found them to be a bit different from your average architect. As well carrying out their practice in a very professional manner they also add that wee bit extra. From concept to design and working through the tedious planning processes, their advice and creativity is invaluable. Our latest project – The Clutha Bar – was a very difficult one. It goes without saying that this was a very sensitive project and many things out with a normal refurb had to be taken in to consideration. The design and new look to the bar has been praised and loved by Politicians- Royalty but more importantly the people of Glasgow and the punters of the bar' Alan Crossan, Owner
